Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

For the readers in our parish, I would like to propose a CATHOLIC BOOK CLUB ON DANTE, and offer the unique opportunity to read the greatest Catholic writer in history, and his famous trilogy, The Divine Comedy. I am planning to re-read it, and invite others to join me.

On the sixth centenary of the poet's death, Pope Benedict XV wrote: "While there is no lack of great Catholic poets who combine the useful with the enjoyable, Dante has the singular merit that while he fascinates the reader with wonderful variety of pictures, with marvellously lifelike colouring, with supreme expression and thought, he draws him also to the love of Christian knowledge, and all know how he said openly that he composed his poem to bring to all 'vital nourishment.' And we know now too how, through God's grace, even in recent times, many who were far from, though not averse to Jesus Christ, and studied with affection the Divina Commedia, began by admiring the truths of the Catholic Faith and finished by throwing themselves with enthusiasm into the arms of the Church" (In Praeclara Summorum, #8).

The Book Club would consist of independent reading. I propose that we meet 3 times for discussion, one for each book. I think three months is enough to read each one, so we could tentatively meet in late August or early September to discuss The Inferno. We will be reading the translation by Hollander, published by Anchor Books, and available through Amazon for $15-20 each. Let me know if you are interested!

Fr. Tim
