PASTOR'S CORNER

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

On October 18th, Pope Benedict released a letter to seminarians, which includes a beautiful reflection on CONFESSION that can inspire all of us. He writes,

"The sacrament of Penance is also important. It teaches me to see myself as God sees me, and it forces me to be honest with myself. It leads me to humility. The Curé of Ars once said: "You think it makes no sense to be absolved today, because you know that tomorrow you will commit the same sins over again. Yet," he continues, "God instantly forgets tomorrow's sins in order to give you his grace today."

Even when we have to struggle continually with the same failings, it is important to resist the coarsening of our souls and the indifference which would simply accept that this is the way we are. It is important to keep pressing forward, without scrupulosity, in the grateful awareness that God forgives us ever anew - yet also without the indifference that might lead us to abandon altogether the struggle for holiness and self-improvement.

Moreover, by letting myself be forgiven, I learn to forgive others. In recognizing my own weakness, I grow more tolerant and understanding of the failings of my neighbour."

In Christ,

Fr. Tim

Tyler Preston, Susan McCooeye-Larivee, Warren Hamm, Nancy McDonald
Brynn MacKinnon, Brenda Henke, Monica Baker, Gilles Gauthier, Justin Collins, and Justin McKenna

LITURGY CORNER:

Perhaps nowhere else in scripture is the power of God's word revealed more clearly than in the act of creation. Everything God imagined came into being through God's Word. And God saw how good it was.

We have this same power. Our words may not create mountains or rivers, but they do have the power to build up and tear down. Recall the times when you felt the power of a harsh word on your self-esteem or the elation that came from a kind word spoken during a difficult day. By sharing in God's creative imagination, we participate in the ongoing work of creation.

Where and how can I use my power of speech today to continue God's work of creation.

"Creator of all good things, thank you for the gift of speech and for the ability to share in your ongoing creation of all that exists. Help me to speak words of love and encouragement to those I meet this day. Amen"
