PASTORS CORNER

As Christians, we are called to be followers of Christ and to imitate his way of life.

In today's parable of the talents, one thing stands out - the slaves were giving differing talents, to each according to his ability on which the Master expects a return. It was not demanded, however, that they should do what they could not do. If they cannot be equal in achievement, they can be equal in effort! So it is with us, we are all gifted differently; born with different abilities. The test, therefore, is how we use the gifts and abilities that we have. "Like good stewards of the manifold grace of God, serve one another with whatever gift each of you has received." (I Pet. 4:10)

In the words of the U.S. Bishops "All temporal and spiritual goods are created by and come from God. That is true of everything human beings have: spiritual gifts like faith, hope and love; talents of body and brain; cherished relationships with family and friends; material goods; the achievement of human genius and skill; the world itself. One day God will require an accounting of the use of each person has made of the particular portion of these goods entrusted to him or her."

The greatest gift from God is the gift of His son Jesus Christ which He gave us because of the love He has for us. As stewards, therefore, we are all called to grow and mature in this gift - loving God and one another.

May we not bury this gift in the ground, but rather, let it grow and expand and envelope our entire being.

Fr. Paul

Number Fourteen: Why for "the Many" and Not "for All"?

Another change in the Eucharistic Prayers occur when during the consecration of the wine into the Blood of Christ, the priest prays: "...the Blood of the New Covenant, which will be poured out for you and for many for the forgiveness of sins". This is a change for an important theological reason from "for all" that we are accustomed to hearing. Jesus Christ suffered and died on the Cross so that all humanity might be redeemed from the power of sin and death we brought on ourselves through Adam because of original sin. We all are redeemed because of Christ's suffering and death and not because of our personal worthiness but we do not get a 'free pass' into heaven. The choices we make in this life have eternal consequences and when we reject God's grace and refuse to repent of our sins, we separate ourselves from God. So Jesus' suffering and death is not a guarantee that all will automatically be saved regardless of our choices but rather it provides the freedom for us to choose for or against God. This change in the Eucharistic Prayers makes it clear that our freedom to choose for or against God matters and that Christ's death is not a guaranteed 'free pass' into heaven for all because God respects our free will and our choices.

QUO VADIS: A meeting for men discerning priesthood.
